

Town & Country Gullings.

—The thrasher is now the centre of attraction.

—Mrs. French and Miss G. Boyce left on Sunday for Winnipeg.

—Mr. G. S. Davidson, M.L.A., returned home after prorogation of the Legislative Assembly on Saturday.

—Mr. A. H. B. Sperling and his gang of thrashers commenced operations to-day on the farm of Mr. J. Bunn.

—A cousin of Mrs. Caswell, Mr. Wheatley, of Winnipeg, are staying with Mr. Dale. They are spending a few days here with his newly made bride.

—We understand that Mr. D. S. McCannell has been appointed administrator of the estate of the late Mr. William Brydon.

—The new well boring machine purchased by the North-West Government, now in use near Langenburg, is giving great satisfaction.

—No less than five separators were destroyed by fire in the Morden district last week. The cause of the loss is supposed to have been carelessness.

—The telegraph station at Humboldt, which was established in 1876 and is one of the oldest in the north country, has been permanently closed.

—The brothers (Manlove) started on Monday on a combined business and pleasure trip to the Touchwood district. They intend to do some shooting.

—His Lordship Bishop Barn, who has been in Toronto attending the first general synod of the Church of England in Canada, is expected home to-morrow.

—The fire losses of the United States and Canada in August were $13,322,700, against $10,145,300 in 1892, making $111,324,000 since January 1st, against $87,172,350 last year.

—Two excellent sermons were preached on Sunday last in St. Peter's Pro-Cathedral by the Rev. E. King, of St. Philip's Church, Sydney, England, who arrived here recently on a visit.

—Two young ladies in this section out and bound 10 acres of outland Friday afternoon. —Palmerston Reporter. These are the kind of immigrants we should encourage to come west. Our hachelors could do the thrashing.

—Messrs. Haultain, Insinger and Sutherland, M.L.A.'s, came down from Regina on Sunday morning and went out to Fort Qu'Appelle, to witness the festivities of the North-West Mounted Police encamped there.

—Mr. W. S. Redpath leaves to-day on a journey north. He will visit his friend, Mr. H. Keith, Indian Agent at Carleton Place, and he is to return here for the winter. The Rev. E. King accompanies Mr. Redpath as far as Touchwood.

—Next Tuesday evening, in the Methodist Church, the Boney children will give one of their unique concerts. These children, four in number, are remarkably clever players on the violin and piano. A grand concert may be expected.

—Rube Allyn, the well known eloquent and humorous, has been here for a week the guest of the Rev. E. T. Carter. He was prevailed upon to give an entertainment at Fort Qu'Appelle on Saturday, and Edgeley on Monday, but the audiences were not very encouraging. This, however, did not prevent the entertainer from going through a capital programme, which amply repaid those who turned out. On Tuesday evening Rube Allyn gave an entertainment in the Immigration Hall, Qu'Appelle, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church, to a small but appreciative assembly.

—Mr. Thomas Mills, of Baner, North Wales, accompanied by Mr. Morda, has been in this district for a few days taking photographs. Mr. Mills has earned for himself a well deserved reputation as an immigration lecturer in the eastern provinces as well as Great Britain. He is attached to the farmer's delegation from England, and he takes views on the way, to be afterwards converted into magic lantern slides for the purpose of illustrating his descriptions of the country. On his return he will spend about nine months going through the provinces of Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, taking views and delivering lectures. Mr. Mills was through Manitoba and the North-West Territories some three years ago, and on that trip took over 1,200 views. When here before, he spent three weeks in the Edgeley district, the guest of Mr. W. C. Cameron, with whom he is intimately acquainted.

DR. PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder.

The only Pure Cream of Tartar Powder.—No Ammonia; No Alum.
Used in Millions of Homes—40 Years the Standard.

—Rev. E. T. Carter will preach next Sunday morning at McLean, afternoon at Edgeley, and evening at Qu'Appelle.

—The Bell brothers, who arrived from England a short time ago, are staying with Mr. Dale. They are pleased with the country, and will settle in this neighbourhood.

—Professor Tanner completed his work here last week, and will sail for England on the 30th of the present month, after visiting various places in the east. He goes back to the Old Country with his good opinion of the country greatly strengthened by what he has seen during his stay here, and believes he has looked upon harvest fields such as were never before witnessed.

—There was a meeting of the directors of the South Qu'Appelle Agricultural Society on Saturday last. The appointment of Mr. Joseph Doolittle as secretary-treasurer of the society was confirmed. The other business of the meeting was making the necessary arrangements for the fall show, which is to take place on Thursday, the 5th of October. The prize lists and entry forms are now obtainable from the secretary-treasurer, and intending exhibitors will do well to give the list an early perusal. It has been greatly altered from previous years, and still further inducements are held out to farmers to engage in friendly competition to see who possesses the best stock, or who can carry off the premiums for the finest produce. One important feature is a number of silver cups which are offered for pedigreed entire horses and bulls. Various special prizes, amounting to about $120, have been collected. Particulars of these will be found in another column. The prospects of a good show are very promising, and we hope the farmers will to their utmost to place their stock and produce on exhibition, so that the eighth show may be the best held at Qu'Appelle.

McLEAN.

Stacking is all finished, and thrashing is now the order of the day.

The new store opened a few days ago, and is doing a rushing business. Captain Cowan, of the Salvation Army, is visiting friends here.

Farmers report grain turning out very good this year.

Mr. Geo. Cole lost a valuable cow a few days ago.

ROSE VALLEY.

Harvest is just again, and one of the best ever known. Very heavy, easy to take off, and sample as good as can be.

Harvest thanksgiving services in the Schoolhouse on Sunday evening next. A very full house expected. Quite a number of our citizens intend going down to the Church opening at Statauta on Sunday morning next.

Our teacher here has come out on a bicycle lately, and says that as a tonic the wheel is avay ahead of the axe or hoesaw.

Mr. W. H. Stephens was the first of the Rose Valley Thrashing Syndicate to thresh this year, and another of the syndicate was heard to remark that the grain was turning out forty bushels of No. 1 hard to the acre.

Mr. Ralph Todd's youngest brother has come to visit his two brothers here. Most likely the country will captivate him as it does all others.

Mr. Wm. Cathcart threshed a large quantity of his splendid crop from the stock. The report is the same old story. Heavy crop, superior sample, etc., etc.

CENTRAL ASSINIBOIA TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.

The Executive Committee of the C.A.T.A. met at Indian Head on Saturday last to complete arrangements and get out a programme for the next meeting. Present were President Miller, of Fort Qu'Appelle, Secretary Middleton, of Wolsley, and Messrs. Marwood, Grimmett, Williams and McCannell. The next meeting is to be held at Qu'Appelle on October the 19th and 20th, when an excellent and varied programme will be carried out. Programmes will be out in a few days. Professor Goggin, of Regina, Director of Teachers' Institutes and Normal Schools, has consented to be present and will give an address as well as papers bearing on practical school work. Of this we are convinced that it will not pay anyone in the profession to miss this convention if at all within reach. Every arrangement is being made to make this the most successful and profitable meeting in the history of the well and favorably known Association. If the students attending the Normal at Regina could be granted a holiday to enable them to take advantage of this meeting (many of them being members of this Association), they would no doubt be pleased to be here at the semi-annual gathering.

INDIAN HEAD.

The Canadian Order of Foresters has made rapid strides since its incorporation on December 1st, 1879. Its membership now numbering about 25,000. Much might be said upon the advantages which accrue from becoming members of the Order, which is not an abstraction, but a reality. It is a society of men united together for the attainment of a twofold object—moral and social—the moral standing first, as out of the moral statutes social consequences flow. Upon these grounds it is an essential that the members who compose the Order should be healthy, honest, temperate and true. The formation of the society—the tie that binds its members together—must necessarily be promotive of the social advantages of those within the sphere of its influence; for the object of the Order, and its immediate aim and ultimate end, are those of mutual and social assistance. It is almost impossible for a man to be a member of an order, confederated together for those praiseworthy purposes, without deriving for himself individual advantages; not merely of a pecuniary kind when sickness requires the aid of the fund to which he has contributed, but also of a moral and intellectual nature, to cultivate kindly sympathies, to inculcate brotherly love, and render it a rule of life to foster feelings of commiseration for all suffering from affliction or in distress, and to develop the principle of charity in all the relationships of life, must be in accord with and promotive of the highest morality. He, who as a member, learns his lesson aright, and allows the principles on which it is based to have their legitimate influence on his conduct and actions, cannot but be elevated, both in a social and moral sense, above those who neglect the opportunities for mutual aid within their reach, and who live, as if a man was created for himself alone. The lesson of mutual regard and of social and which contact with the Order cannot but teach, and render the recipient a better husband, a more intelligent and kindly father, as well as a more enlightened citizen. The practice of benevolence can never be promotive of cruelty. The practical inculcation of charity can never lead to liberality of soul. Generosity and kindness in the court room cannot degenerate into brutality at home; and the nature, which is formed by association and precept to sympathize with suffering and distress, can never take delight in or become the cause of pain and anguish to those whom it is a privilege to protect, and a duty to succor and aid. The social advantages, therefore, of the Order, and such practical teaching of duty must manifest themselves throughout all the ramifications of life. The man who has served in the Court room will know the virtue of obedience to lawful and kindly command, and make a better servant outside than he who obeys blindly, and renders service unintelligently, and the man who has exercised authority in the Court, called to the place of honor and power by the free choice of his brethren, will not be the less qualified for positions of responsibility over his fellowmen in the outer world. Forestry, therefore, from the very nature of its constitution, its objects, its duties and its responsibilities, must encourage the moral, social and intellectual interests of those connected with the Order, and it becomes a sacred duty upon all who have its honor in their keeping, to guard that honor with a zealous care and to be mindful that it receives no tarnish from their actions as Foresters in the Court room, or from their actions as individuals moving in general society. The Canadian Order of Foresters having taken high rank as one of the leading friendly societies, is especially commendable to the provident and intelligent workmen of our country, who, by embodying themselves under its expressive watchword, can exercise the gift of self-government and of spontaneous social activity of which all citizens of our Dominion are naturally and justly proud as the birthright of a free and loyal people, and the best security of its liberties, of the importance of friendly societies generally. That the Canadian Order of Foresters, as one of the great family of friendly societies, will nobly do its part in the great work which lies before it, and be a power of usefulness in disseminating the benefits it has undertaken to be bestowed, there can be no doubt. Much more could be written in connection with the Order but space will not permit. Court Indian Head No. 362, which is in splendid working order, has the following officers:—T. H. Bunting, C.R.; J. D. Dickson, V.C.R.; M. Robinson, Treasurer; W. F. Johnston, Financial Secretary; J. H. Wray, Senior Woodward; A. M. Dixon, Junior Woodward; P. Leach, S.B.; E. Sample, J.B.; Rev. J. K. Welsh, Chaplain; Andrew Dixon, Recording Secretary.

PLAIN SPEAKING.

Sir John Thompson's speech at Montreal sets forth in a very decisive manner the lines to be followed by the Conservative party. The following is an extract:—

"We come before you to-night to declare that we stand by the principles on which the Conservative party has stood before the people for the last fifteen years. You know that the policy was adopted at a time of great trial and great necessity in this country. It was adopted with hopes, with expectations, some of which I admit have been unfulfilled; but, on the whole, it has done so well for Canada that even our opponents to-day began their deliberations of their convention by an eloquent description of how great Canada has become, and how great is the duty of any political party to conserve the greatness which Canada has achieved, and the greatness which Canada has yet to achieve. We admit that some of the hopes that were entertained respecting the results of that policy have not been entirely fulfilled. We admit that the circumstances of the country have greatly changed under the fostering care of the policy we so established. We admit that changes in the character of the country have become necessary by those changed circumstances. Values have changed, the volume of commerce has greatly changed, the movement of population within our own country has made a difference, and for a hundred reasons a complete and careful revision of the tariff has become necessary, and it has been adopted as part of the policy of the Government of which I have the honor to be the head. Our opponents have this policy in common with us. But there is this distinction between us, they admit the greatness of the interests involved in any re-arrangement of the tariff; so do we. They admit the necessity of changes in consequence of the altered circumstances of the country; so do we. But they propose to make that change, despite the magnitude of the interests involved, without any inquiry as to what those interests are, or as to what are to be the effects, while we have proposed to Parliament to make the necessary changes after most careful and minute inquiry into every interest in the country which can be reached by the search of ministers who are interested in these questions, which they have in charge. That practically is the difference between the two policies with respect to the tariff."

THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL SWORN IN.

In the presence of Sir John Thompson, Premier, nearly all the members of the Cabinet and a large and brilliant assemblage, the Earl of Aberdeen was sworn in as Governor-General of Canada on Monday last. The ceremony took place in the Legislative Council Chamber in the Provincial Parliament Building. The oath was administered by Chief Justice Sir Henry Strong, of the Supreme Court.
